WEYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL

BE THE BEST

If you can't be a pine on the top of the hill,
Be a scrub in the valley — but be
The best little scrub by the side of the rill;
Be a bush if you can't be a tree.

We can't all be captains;
we've got to be crew.
There's something for all of us here;
There's big work to do,
and there's lesser to do.
And the task you must do is the near.

If you can't be a highway, then just be a trail;
If you can't be the sun, be a star:
It isn't by size that you win or you fail —
BE THE BEST OF WHATEVER YOU ARE!

— Douglas Malloch

AMERICA'S GREATEST ASSET

YOUTH

Mary Eunice Kohler

As the race for world supremacy feverishly continues, each nation counts its assets—material wealth, natural resources, the stockpile of atomic weapons. We shudder to think that guided missiles, capable of mass destruction, are now ready. In the haste of nations to produce aircraft of supersonic speeds, many have forgotten that that nation will remain supreme which utilizes its most precious asset; that is, its youth.

In the early nineteenth century, Disraeli observed, "The youth of a nation are the trustees of posterity." How true this is! Yet have freedom-loving countries fully realized the significance of this statement? Possibly not to the extent of the despotic or communistic powers. In our own century, we have the example of Adolph Hitler, who said, "Let me train your youth, and I will rule the nation in whatever way I choose." More recently we have only to look at Russia, quietly carrying on the greatest youth conservation program in her history.

It is the task of America to begin an equally magnificent effort to conserve and utilize her youth. Think of the millions of dollars Americans are pouring into conservation projects, giant dams, and efficiency surveys of business resources! Shouldn't there be at least a comparable amount set aside for conservation of democracy's greatest asset? Does the lack of an effective program indicate that Americans are unable or unwilling to think in terms of long-range results? Here in America, most of the money allocated to youth goes to the study and correction of juvenile delinquency. Yet the results are not what they should be. In a recent statement, J. Edgar Hoover warned that the United States crime rate has mushroomed three times faster than the nation's population and that youngsters under eighteen committed almost half the major crimes. Surely the time has come when more drastic measures must be taken to prevent the future rise of such a disgraceful condition. Thoughtful Americans will realize the urgent need for immediate and wholehearted action. Whatever the cost, we must eradicate juvenile delinquency. But at the same time we must not neglect an equally strong program for developing the talent of the nation's youth. Perhaps, in the end, the ounce of prevention will diminish the need for a pound of cure.

Since a democracy is a government of the people, it is the American citizen himself who will have to see that the federal government, community, church, and home successfully co-operate in a great program for the advancement of youth.

One of the obligations of the federal government is to hold in check the subversive agencies which try to poison young minds. Laws have been made to protect the body against poison, but very few to protect the mind against harmful comic books, motion pictures, television programs, and cheap advertising.

It is the duty of the community to supply wholesome recreation in order to rid young people of that excess physical energy which often leads to trouble. Every citizen should consider it a personal obligation to see that his community has a centre, under the supervision of youth leaders, where all children may freely go during their leisure time.

Every community must also see that the schools teach more than reading, writing, and arithmetic. Now, as never before, a child must be taught to appreciate the magnitude of his democratic heritage and be inspired to uphold the traditions as set forth by our first great leaders. The public schools should give as much help as possible to the superior child. Much has been done to help the retarded boy and girl, but comparatively little for the exceptionally skilled. Also scholarships of considerable amounts should be provided for those in need, so that the talent of the naturally gifted can be given to the nation

The influence of the church can be great, since any country believing in God and His principles will never fall under the influence of a dictatorship or Communism. Despots have continually tried to extinguish religion because it has always proved detrimental to totalitarian aspirations. By advocating regular attendance, churches can help to promote the cause of democracy, for to believe in God is to believe in what is right.

In the home a child must be taught the great values of love, respect, and obedience, not only for their parents but also for all others. The importance of having faith in God and leading a life according to the Ten Commandments must be emphasized. Juvenile delinquency usually stems from trouble or neglect in the home. If, however, one grows up with the attitude, "I was made for happiness for God, for the fullness of his revelation and all that is," he cannot help becoming a good and laudable person.

Americans must be impressed now with the urgent needs of the youth of the nation. Each citizen must be made to see the absolute necessity for conserving the country's most precious asset. He must recognize that an investment in youth is an investment in the future, paying high dividends. For given a firm foundation, American youth, with an ingenious nature and faith in God, will stand unequalled in the world.

DEMOCRACY

YOUTH'S GREATEST ASSET

Gail Brittain

When the Founding Fathers framed our Constitution, their fundamental aim was to establish a government, under God, in which the people would be supreme. Each citizen would be given the opportunity of achieving his greatest potential. He would have every possible freedom to develop his own particular talent. In every way his God-given rights would be protected. Truly the men who drafted the Constitution gave to us a magnificent document. Yet how few of us really appreciate the privileges it guarantees us as individuals!

At the time of the writing of the Constitution, men wanted equality of opportunity more than anything else. They believed that each man's natural rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness came to him from God. The framers of the Constitution demonstrated their belief in this idea by incorporating these truths in the final draft. Thus was proved that the ideal of equality has always been a fundamental American principle. From it have come all of our ideals of liberty, justice, peace and security. Never in America will opportunity be restricted only to those of wealth or racial prestige. Our democracy is indeed built on God-given principles.

That the ideal of equality as expressed by the Founding Fathers has had a profound influence in our national life cannot be denied. For example, in 1913, labor was given its rightful place in the political scheme, when the Secretary of Labor became a member of the President's Cabinet. In our great nation, rich and poor, industrialist and laborer, financier and farmer, cast their ballots side by side, giving evidence of a true democracy.

However, we realize that all do not have the same ability. Hence we do not believe that all goods should be divided equally or that social distinctions can be eliminated by government action. Some idealistic theories maintain that a system such as Communism is possible. We cannot agree, because that program deprives men of ambition and a competitive spirit. We believe that true equality refers only to the natural rights of the individual and the opportunity for their fulfilment. For example, if equality of opportunity had not been granted to Ralph Bunche, the grandson of an American slave and an orphan at the age of twelve, he never could have risen to the office he now holds. His work as acting mediator of the United Nations Palestine Commission is considered by many the most important and critical assignment in the history of the United Nations. His story is only one of many that could be mentioned. Indeed, our whole standard of living is a result of this democratic pattern of life. Surely in this we have an answer to the critics of democracy. For under what other form of government is the individual given so many opportunities?

The development of a system of public education is perhaps America's best illustration of the equality of opportunity in action. Here, every person is allowed and encouraged to receive at least twelve years of free schooling. A wide choice of subject matter is offered, and he is given a chance to learn as much as he wishes. Furthermore, scholarships are available for the scientist and teacher, the athlete and musician. Recently LIFE magazine told the heartwarming story of the parents of a dozen children. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Martin of Maryland had an income of less than $80 a week. Yet, by hard work and scholarships, each of their children received a college degree. Where but in America does such opportunity exist? Many argue that our schools cater only to the average student, that no special arrangement is made for the superior, as is true in Europe. We must admit that there are shortcomings in our present system; however, progress is being made continually toward educating every individual in accordance with his desires and capabilities.

Many other developments have also come about as a result of our sense of equality of opportunity and our educational program. Today ninety-five per cent. of the government positions are open to anyone who qualifies by passing Civil Service, while in the armed forces, many capable young men who have never had the opportunity of attending a military school are now eligible for officer training. Social Security further puts the American ideals into action by retaining the dignity of her senior citizens. As we can see, many areas where similar advantages did not exist are gradually being brought under the general policy of equal opportunity for all.

Furthermore, America has taken steps to safeguard the individual rights of liberty and equality, so that they may never be alienated. The decision of the Supreme Court to curb the illegal proceedings of investigating committees is only one example of America's constant watch over her people. Previously, the Sherman Anti-Trust Act was put into effect to protect the small businessman against the large monopoly. The Wagner Act gave the laborer a chance to bargain collectively with his employer, while the consumer has been cared for by the passage of the Pure Food and Drug Act.

Yet neither the Bill of Rights nor any other law can itself safeguard our American principles. The tenets of democracy can be preserved only when thoughtful and enlightened people act according to their beliefs. We, the youth of today, the leaders of tomorrow, must be these people. We, who have received all of our nation's richest blessings, must return to her at least some portion of our talents. Let us thank America, this America who has said to us, her youth, "Be the best of whatever you are." Let us give her our best.

EDUCATION

FOR DEMOCRATIC LIVING

Mary Ethel Hurst

What a blessing it is to live in America! How wonderful to be a citizen in a nation which believes in God as the source of all power and law! What a privilege to participate in a democracy that gives each citizen equal rights regardless of race, color, or creed. Yet what a grave responsibility this privilege, this blessing, places upon us; for America, in her present position of world leadership, must prove to the world the beauty of democratic living. She can do this only by setting a functioning example—an example so fine and so successful that other nations will follow it voluntarily. The responsibility for setting this example rests with us, the citizens of the United States. So great is this responsibility that it can be met only by an enlightened citizenry, capable of leading and of selecting wise leaders. Education, the education of all of our people, is the sole hope toward this enlightenment.

During recent years much has been written concerning education in America, giving evidence that we are most aware of its vital importance. One reads articles on many diverse aspects of education: the need for emphasis upon science, the lack of ethical and spiritual values, and the importance of greater self-discipline. One hears arguments both in favor of and opposed to various systems of instruction. It is so easy to become preoccupied with techniques and secondary objectives that one loses sight of the primary purpose of education in our democracy.

The primary purpose is to produce good citizens, just as our American forbears resolved when they first established our free-education system. These men of integrity realized that the security and freedom of our nation depended upon the quality as well as the equality of the citizens. They knew that our democratic system itself, to be successful, must develop character. Knowing this, they began an educational system which they hoped would enable all to uphold the highest ideals of our democracy. With the purpose of producing good citizens, our educational system was founded; now, over three hundred years later, our purpose remains the same. We still realize that a good citizen is one who is prepared to live a happy, peaceful, and useful life; one who is fitted to meet all physical, social, intellectual, and spiritual needs.

One must first be prepared to cope with the physical needs of his life. He must be able to earn a living so that he can provide for himself those necessities and conveniences so essential to his physical comfort. He must also know how to take care of his health so that he can remain strong and able. In one scientific study fifty-eight per cent. of American youths failed one or more of six tests for muscular strength and flexibility. The failure rate of European children in the same tests was only eight per cent. Statistics such as these indicate that too few Americans are receiving proper health training.

Then, too, a good citizen must cultivate the art of social living. He must possess self-control as well as self-reliance, enabling him to live and work harmoniously as a member of his family and his community. He must be aware of his responsibilities as a United States citizen and must be willing to shoulder conscientiously his share of maintaining public law and order. He must clearly see his duty to vote intelligently and take part in public affairs.

Likewise, it is necessary that a good citizen be educated intellectually. He must not only possess considerable knowledge, but he must be trained to use that knowledge well and encouraged to seek additional information. He must be able to think clearly, to use good judgment, and to make decisions. He must realize that without a highly developed science our nation lacks the power to survive. Since we are at present engaged in an intense race for scientific knowledge, our civilization, our very existence, is dependent upon the continual quest for perfection in our scientific achievements.

In addition, he must also realize that modern science contains many new ideas which must be regulated. Charles Lindbergh, in his latest book, entitled "Of Flight and Life," states: "Scientific truth can bring evil as well as good, destroy as well as construct; its achievements depend less on its own substance than on a guiding Power beyond—a power not bound up in formulas of knowledge." If our civilization is to continue, we must guide the material power of our science according to the spiritual truths of our God.

Finally, a good citizen must be a person of highest character and ideals. He must recognize the laws of nature as God's gift and place his faith in God's purpose for human life. It has been said that the deeper one's spiritual values, the richer his life becomes and the more he enriches the lives of others. The good citizen is truly a person of deepest spiritual values.

The purpose of education, then, is to produce good citizens for democratic living. This can be accomplished only when all these aspects of man's nature, physical, social, intellectual, and spiritual, are taken into consideration. There must be an equal balance of body, mind, and spirit.

Our survival as a nation is wholly dependent upon the quality of our civilization, our physical strength, the mind of science, and the balance of the spirit of Christ. Education must accomplish this balance in our people, for the future of our nation is dependent upon good citizens, enlightened citizens, citizens of extraordinary quality.

what we did

In June of 1953, the freshman classes of South Junior and Weymouth High Schools went to College Pond in Plymouth for their outings. The sun shone brightly on both days and most of us freshmen arrived home with red hot sunburns.

The following year as sophmores at Weymouth High, the class went to College Pond again for the annual outing. After a cloudy morning, Mr. Sun finally peeped through to put his mark on us.

As upperclassmen in the next year, we juniors held our party in the girls' gym. To the music of Bobbie Doyle's Orchestra, dancing was held, followed by refreshments and entertainment.

◄As a gift from the Class of 1955, the Class of 1956 presented maroon and gold rose bushes, which were planted outside the entrance to the boys' gym, on the driveway side of the school.

To give the Senior Class a big send-off we, the Junior Class, presented a show, under the direction of Mr. Ghiorse, entitled "Dave Crockett Visits Weymouth High." We tried to bring out the highlights of the seniors' high school days by reacting various events, and impersonating different students. We all knew the show was a grand success when we saw the tears in the eyes of the seniors as they realized they were leaving Weymouth High.

This year, we at Weymouth High School have been most fortunate in having a foreign student, Merete Selmer, spend her senior year in our school. Her visit was sponsored by the Weymouth Rotary Club, and she was selected to spend the year here by American Field Service. Merete participated in many extracurricular activities and in all girls' intramural and varsity sports. Here, Mary Hurst, Student Council president, is presenting Merete with an "Honorary Student Council Membership Pin."

Merete, we hope you've enjoyed your stay at Weymouth High, because we've enjoyed having you here.

The Class of '56

As we juniors left school for our outing one Sunday morning in June, it was raining; but when we reached Craigville Beach in Plymouth, the weather was fine. The salt water was most refreshing after the long ride from Weymouth.

For the first football rally, Mr. Ghiorse again directed a show for us. This was called "The Jackie Gleason Show." The theme was based on Jackie's driving the football team to the Thanksgiving game in Brockton. Here we saw the June Taylor Dancers as portrayed by members of the footbal squad.

◄ To celebrate Christmas this year, a pageant was held, under the direction of Mrs. Pileggi. It was comprised of five tableaux representing the birth of the Christ Child.

On December 12, in the boys' gym, the annual Victory Dance was held, to the music of Earl Healey's Orchestra. A representation of outstanding football players was placed on the edge of the stage with a goal post situated in the centre of the dance floor as a tribute to the successful squad of 1956.

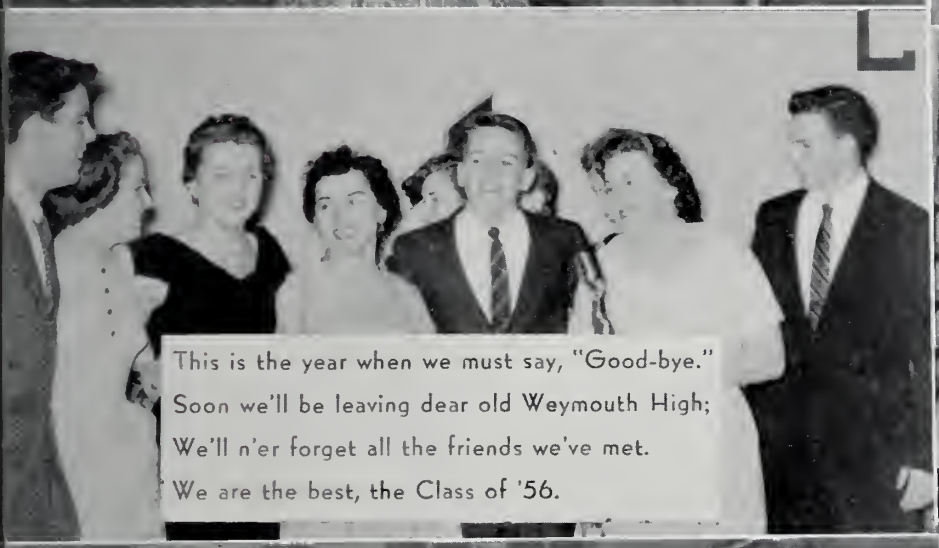
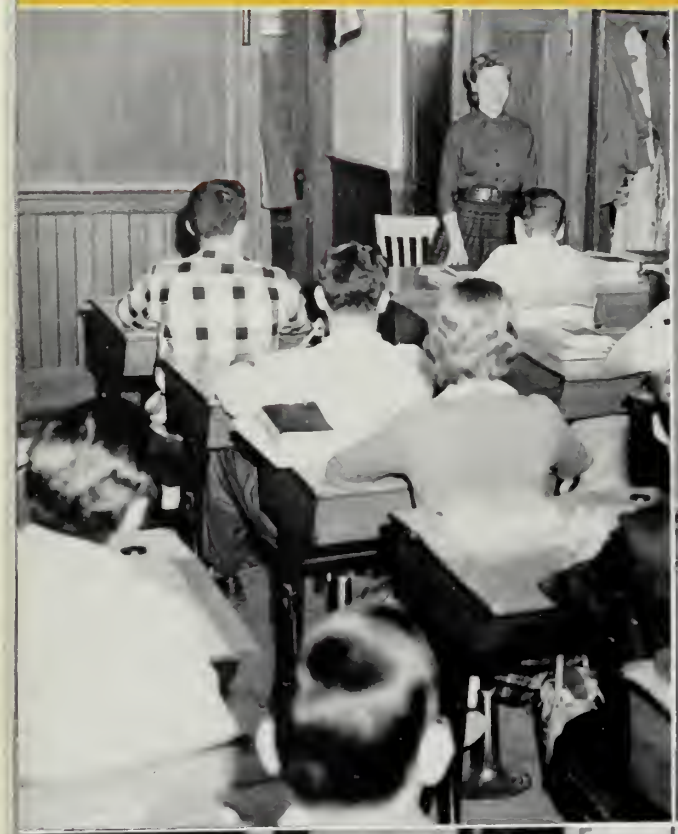
For the basketball rally the cheerleaders based the theme on the Mickey Mouse Club Show. Complete with the Mousekateers, guests, and Weymouth's basketball squad, the show was most successful.

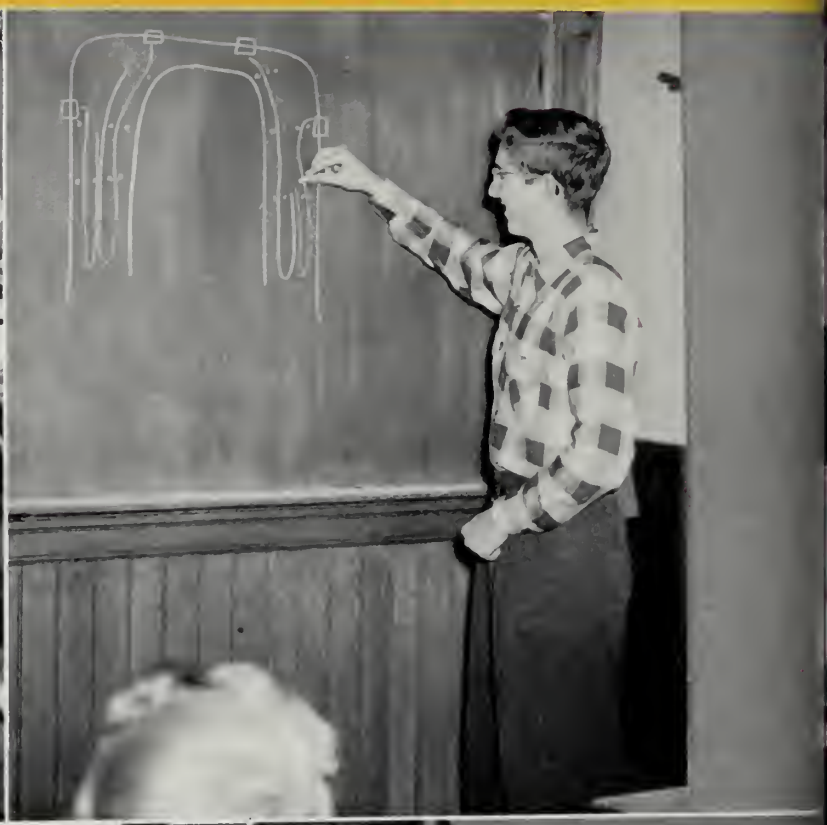
"The Night of January Sixteenth," which was the title of the Senior Play, was presented in March. The alleged murderess, played by Jane Damon, was found innocent at both presentations. The cast, which was directed by Mr. Longridge, included, in order of their appearance: Janice Margeson, Carl Leone, John Temple, Daniel Kelly, Doris Cumming, James Walker, Janet White, Richard Rand, Jane Damon, Alan Walls, Hannah Burgess, John Lingley, Charles Sholes, Marjorie Nash, Barbara Dunlap, Paul Craffey, Valorie Wilson, Paula Fryar, John Faustini, Barbara Chambers, Beverley Greenblatt, John Burgess, Donald MacLeod, Joseph Carven, and Rose Creswell.



The Senior Party was held in January in the girls' gym. All looked wonderful as they danced. Even the teachers were dancing as the orchestra leader announced a "good-will dance." During the entertainment a group of seniors sang "This Is the Year," to the tune of "Now Is The Hour." Several little parties were held afterward to climax a wonderful evening.

STUDENT COUNCIL





The Student Council, in addition to their duties in the lunch room and at the fire drills, have sponsored many dances, to raise funds for various school organizations. Members of the Council also attended the annual conventions which were held this year at Cohasset, Melrose, Wilmington, Silver Lake, and Connecticut. Offices of the Council were Mary Hurst, president; Richard Daniele, vice-president; Janet White, secretary, and Arthur Horsch, treasurer.

REFLECTOR

We wish to thank the Reflector Staff, Editor-in-Chief Laverna Somers, and the faculty advisers for working so diligently in selecting the best material for each edition of the school magazine. Diana Driesbach, the Art Editor, and Virginia Hegarty, Business Manager, are also to be commended for their excellent work.

We are sure the students enjoyed reading stories written by their classmates and hearing about current activities of the high school.

YEARBOOK

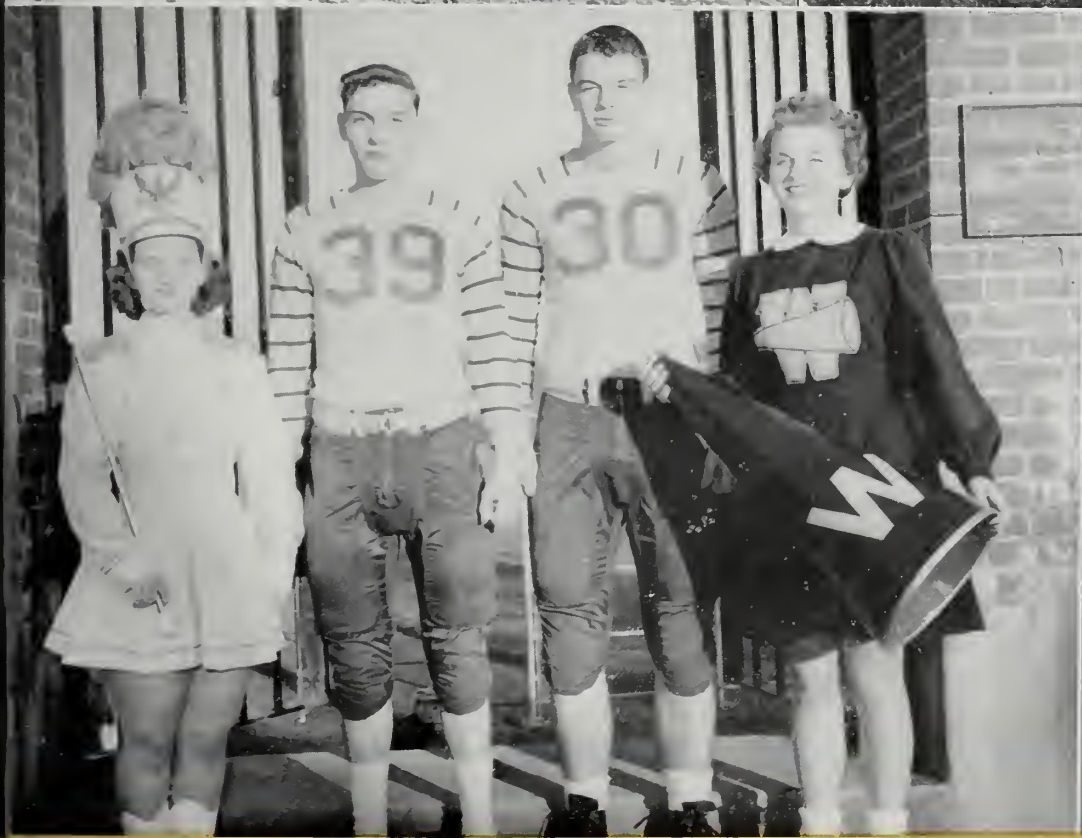
The staff would like to thank the members of the faculty who helped in choosing material for our book and spent much time working with us.

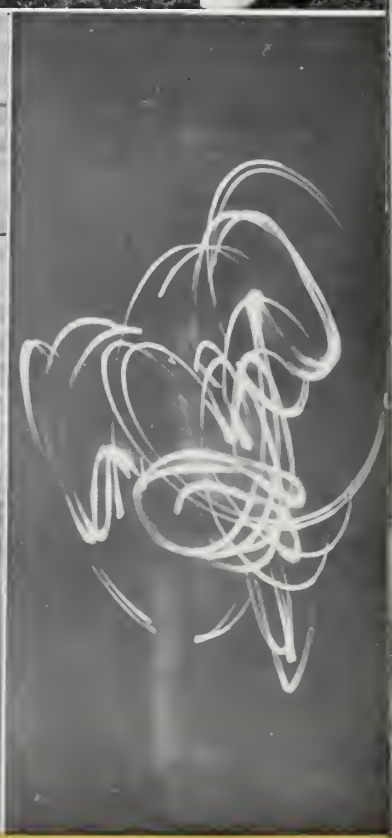
FOOTBALL

Weymouth High's football squad enjoyed a successful season. Under the able leadership of co-captains John Burgess and Joe Rossetti, our team was sparked to greater heights. Best wishes are extended to Coach John Fisher and Assistant Coaches Hayes, Whitmore, and Mazzola for a successful 1956 season. The following players are graduating: John Burgess, Joe Carven, Dave Cassetti, Russ Delano, Harry Dellamano, Bob Fay, Don McLeod, Ed Mullen, Ed O'Donnell, Larry Pawlick, Joe Rossetti, and Paul Simmons.

CHEERLEADERS

The shouts and cheers of joy heard echoing from Legion Field and the boys' gym were led by our loyal cheerleaders. The members of the squad were: W— Bobbie Vedoe, E— Mary Kohler, Y— Jane Foster, M— Bea DuPrey, O— Mary Hurst, U— Bev Stevens, T— Judy Pitts, H— Barbie Brittain, and of course, our head cheerleader, Doris Swart. Much help was rendered by the substitutes Connie Santacroce, Lanie Lewis, Sandy McCusker, and Levy Somers at the various times during the year. All the girls are to be congratulated.





MAJORETTES

At every football game last fall the fans never failed to see our majorettes full of "pep" as they led the band down the field. Under the capable leadership of Ann Vaughan, these girls added much to the band as they performed their many routines. The remaining squad consist of Louise Messier, Nancy Keefe, Ida Nelson, Cynthia Payne, and Joanie Truman.

BAND

If you were at the football games last fall, I'm sure you enjoyed listening to various selections played by our Band, and in various assemblies also. The officers of the organization this year were Jim Walker, president; Nancy Trudeau, vice-president, and Carl Leone, manager.

We want to thank the members for a job well done and wish Mr. Stewart luck in his new venture.

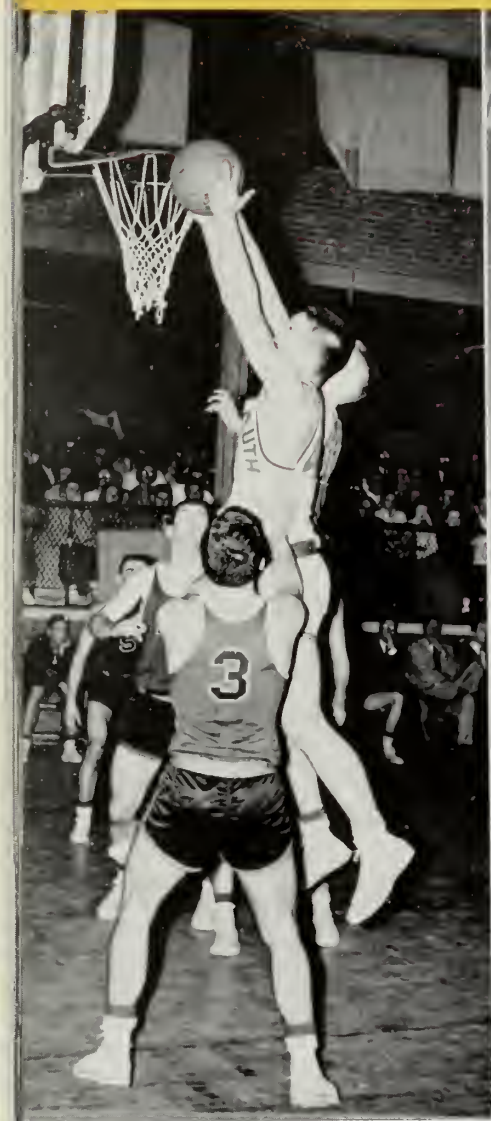
ORCHESTRA

The members of the Orchestra spent many hours working together, under the direction of Mr. Jack, preparing for their appearances in the annual school concerts. The highlight of the year's activities was the "Hey Pedro" number at the Winter Concert.

CHORUS

We have enjoyed the performances of the Chorus, directed by Mr. Jack, in our school assemblies, concerts, and festivals throughout the year. Everyone wishes to thank the members for their grand work.

BASKETBALL



Our basketball team, composed mainly of underclassmen, did not have a very successful season, winning only five games. However, fine sportsmanship and team spirit were present at all times. Coach Dick Whitmore bids farewell to the two senior starters, John Burgess and Joe Carven. In the Bay State Tournament the Weymouth five advanced to the finals, but were defeated by a strong Worcester Trade team.

TRACK

Under the able leadership of Mr. Page and Mr. Pratt, our track teams have enjoyed successful seasons. During the winter season the team placed in the annual State Meet and B. A. A. held in Boston Garden. Seniors leaving the squad are Joe Carven, Bob Fay, Dave Finlayson, Joe Rossetti, Jerry Rudolph, and Dan Sexton.

CROSS COUNTRY

The Weymouth Cross Country Team, led by senior co-captains Dave Finlayson and Dan Sexton, won five of its six meets this year, and placed second in the South Shore Meet. The team's two coaches are to be congratulated for spending many hours in the training of these athletes.

BASEBALL

Our baseball team, with Coach John Fisher in charge, enjoyed a most successful season. The Weymouth nine displayed much sportsmanship and team spirit on the diamond. Graduating are John Burgess, Marty Cunningham, John Cross, Bill Peters, Joe Rossetti, Bennie Santacroce, Skip Sholes, and Pete Temple.

HOCKEY

This year at Weymouth High a new sport was established. Our hockey team, piloted by Coach Art Valicenti and Co-captains Paul Simmons and Russ Delano, showed a great deal of promise, a fact which evidences a much stronger team in the coming year.

SOFTBALL

FIELD HOCKEY

When the warmer weather arrives, we find the girls out on Libby Field playing softball, which seems to be popular with many of the students.

Miss Arnold and Miss Sharkey are always on hand, coaching the girls and promoting true sportsmanship.

Early last fall a large group of girls spent their afternoons at Libby Field playing field hockey. Each team played its best in hopes of coming out on top.

BASKETBALL

If you heard a lot of shouting coming from the girls' gym this year, it was the basketball tournament. The winners of these intramural games comprised the varsity and junior-varsity squads. Weymouth's girls played the annual exciting game with Woodward School, beating them 55—22.

VOLLEYBALL

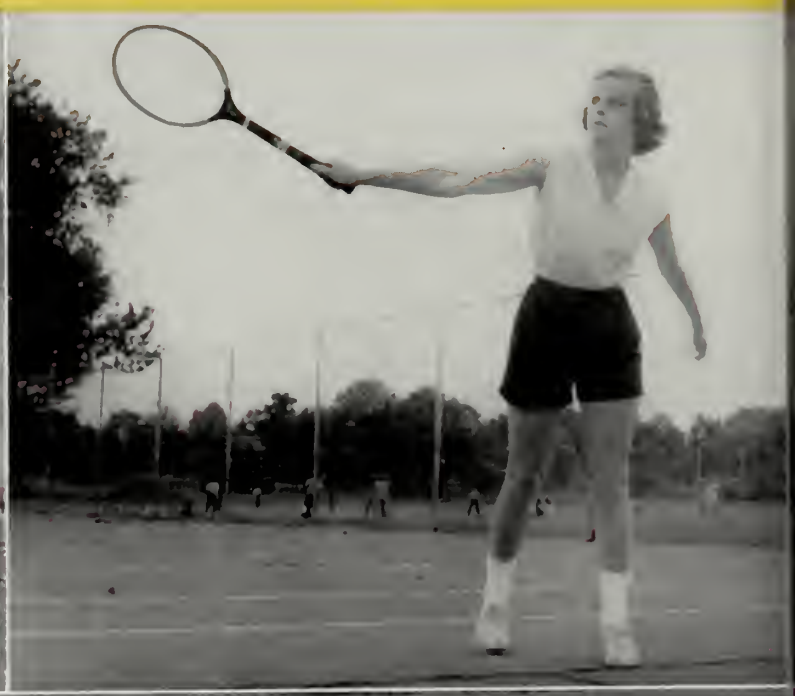
The volleyball tournament was an exciting one this season. The girls found keen competition in every game. They learned to acquire skill and enjoyed playing, also.

TENNIS

BADMINTON

The past year the tennis court at Legion Field saw a great deal of action. Many of the girls took an interest in the sport and had fun playing the game.

This spring, on Monday afternoons, an exciting badminton tournament was held in the girls' gym. A large number of girls turned out, and each one enjoyed herself.



DRAMATIC CLUB

A great interest was shown by the student body when plans for forming a Dramatic Club were drawn up. The elected officers were John Temple, president; Beverly Barton, vice-president; Marilyn Nelson, secretary, and Doris Cumming, treasurer.

The club presented a number of short plays; however, the outstanding production of the club was the Senior Play.

The members wish to thank Mr. Longridge for making the first year of the Dramatic Club a successful one.

ORATORICAL CONTEST

Jane Damon, James Haviland, James Walker, and Mary Hurst, were the four finalists who represented the High School in this year's Oratorical Contest, sponsored by the American Legion. All the students worked diligently on their speeches and each gave a fine presentation. Mary Hurst was chosen the winner of the contest and awarded fifty dollars. James Haviland was the runner-up.

FRENCH CLUB

This year pupils taking French reorganized the French Club, under the supervision of Miss Canning. The meetings were all interesting, particularly the Christmas Party. The officers of the club were Janet Briggs, president; Merete E. Selmer, vice-president; Judy Pitts, secretary, and Edna Green, treasurer.

We hope that next year's students will show the same interest and enthusiasm.

SPANISH CLUB

This past year the Spanish Club held meetings once a month, with Mrs. Bedell and Miss Waterman as faculty advisers and officers: Marie Maraget, president; Lois Savola, vice-president; Beverly Moran, secretary, and Judy Fortier, treasurer.

The girls enjoyed hearing different speakers and viewing slides of Spanish-speaking countries. The annual Christmas Party was held with the French Club in the Library.

FUTURE NURSES

The purpose of the Future Nurses' Club is to bring together all the girls interested in nursing.

Led by Carol Bernard, president, and Miss Stockwell, faculty adviser, the Future Nurses' Club visited hospitals and discussed various subjects at their meetings, helping the members to dertermine if they would enjoy a career in nursing.

KEY CLUB

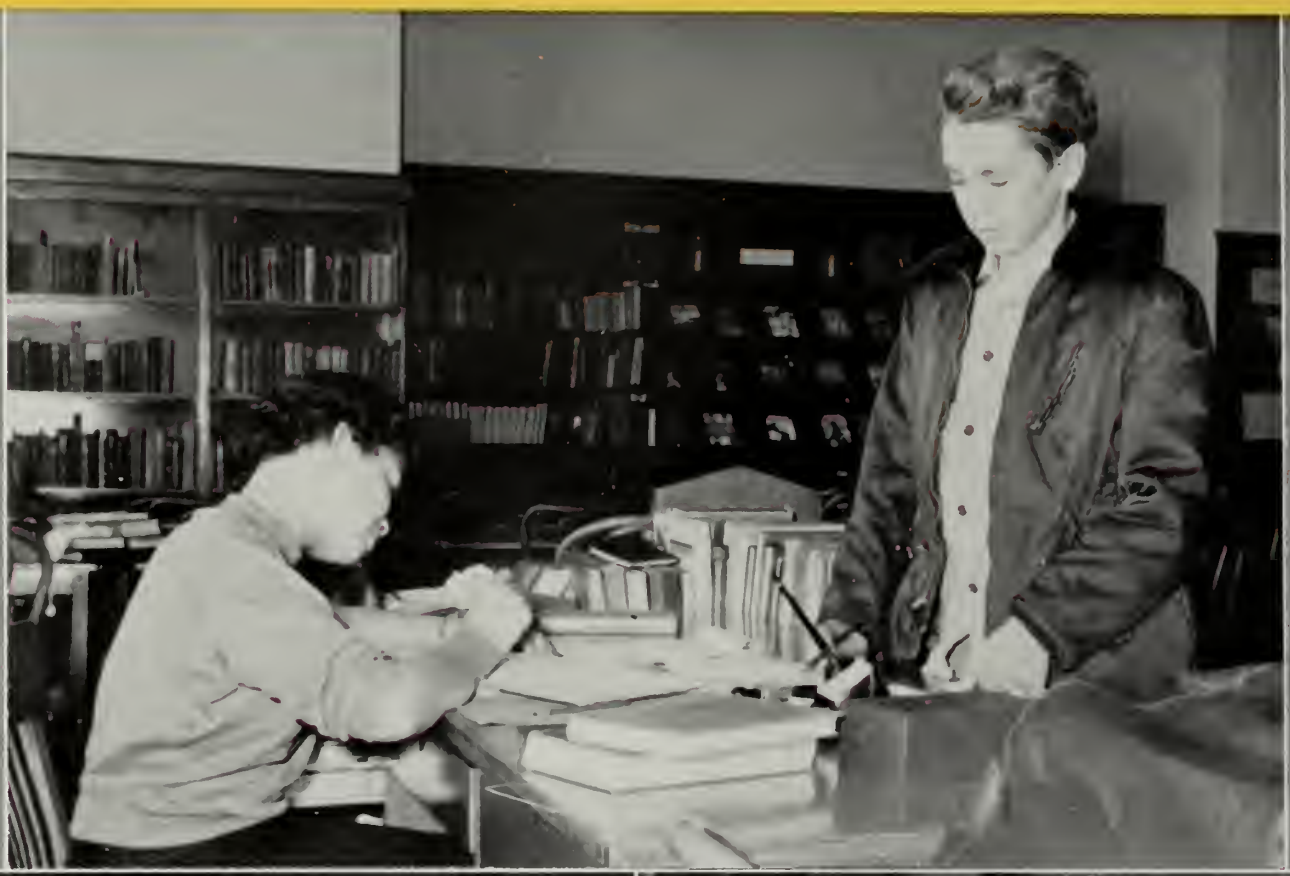
The Key Club, which is a branch of the Weymouth Kiwanis, performs many helpful public works. It sponsored a safety campaign this winter, placing signs about town to slow down the drivers. At graduation a scholarship was awarded to a senior who showed excellence in both studies and extracurricular activities. This year's faculty adviser, Mr. Lordi, and club president, Dan Kelly, aided the boys in their endeavors.

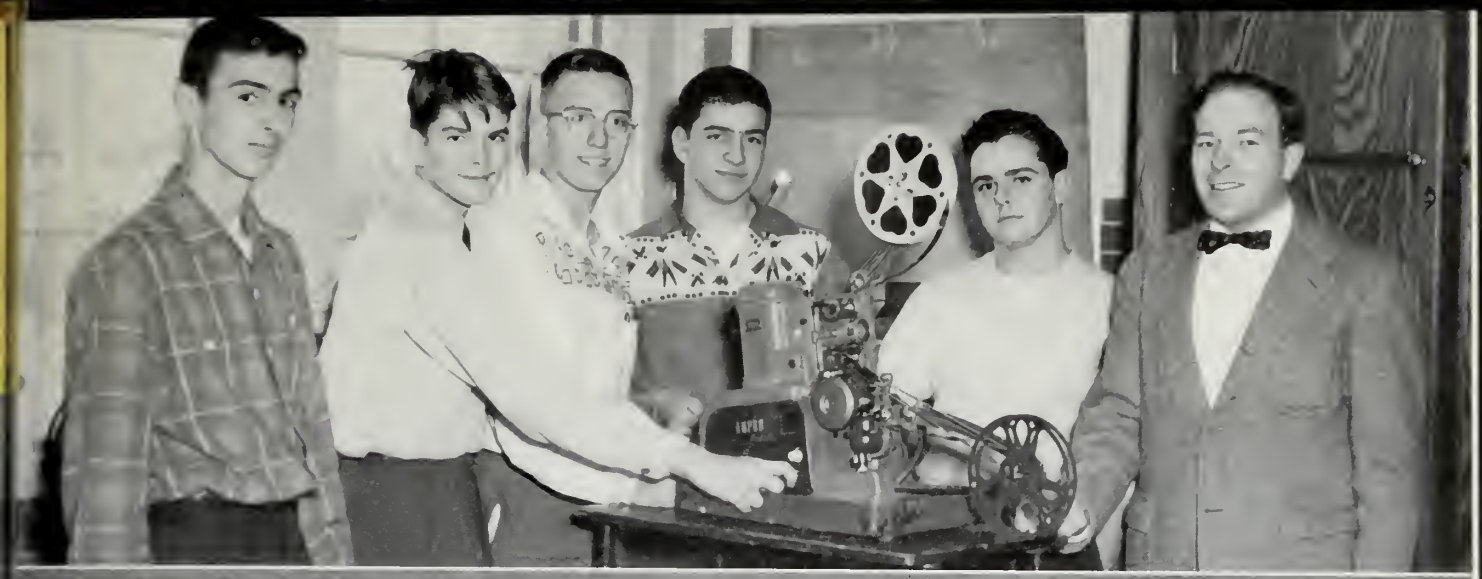
CAMERA CLUB

The Camera Club is another club that began this year. With Michael Austin as president and Miss Toomey and Mr. DiSessa as faculty advisers, the members sponsored a photo contest. Many interesting meetings were held, with various speakers and different forms of entertainment being given.

LIBRARY CLUB

The Library Club, under the direction of Miss Gloster, has many hard-working members. Whenever you go to the library, someone is always there to help you. The girls spend much of their own time keeping the library in order, and enjoy doing it. The club will welcome any pupils that would like to join.





Our Lab Assistants aid the science teachers in keeping the laboratories in good order. A great deal of confusion is eliminated each year by these people, who are well acquainted with physics and chemistry.

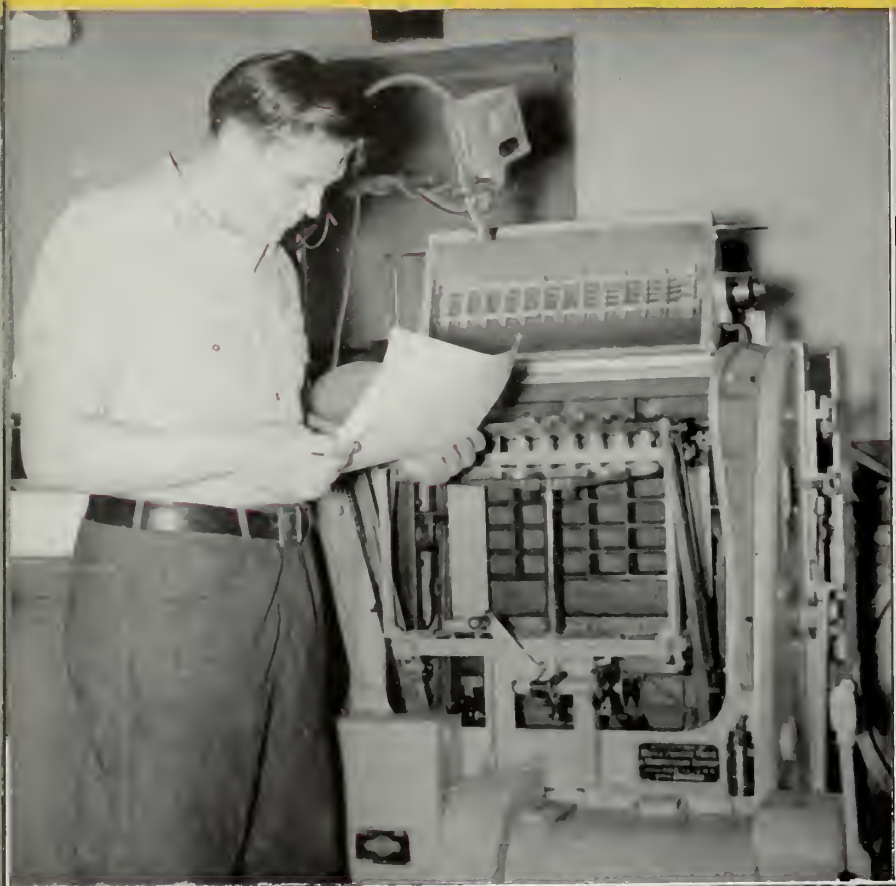
LAB ASSISTANT

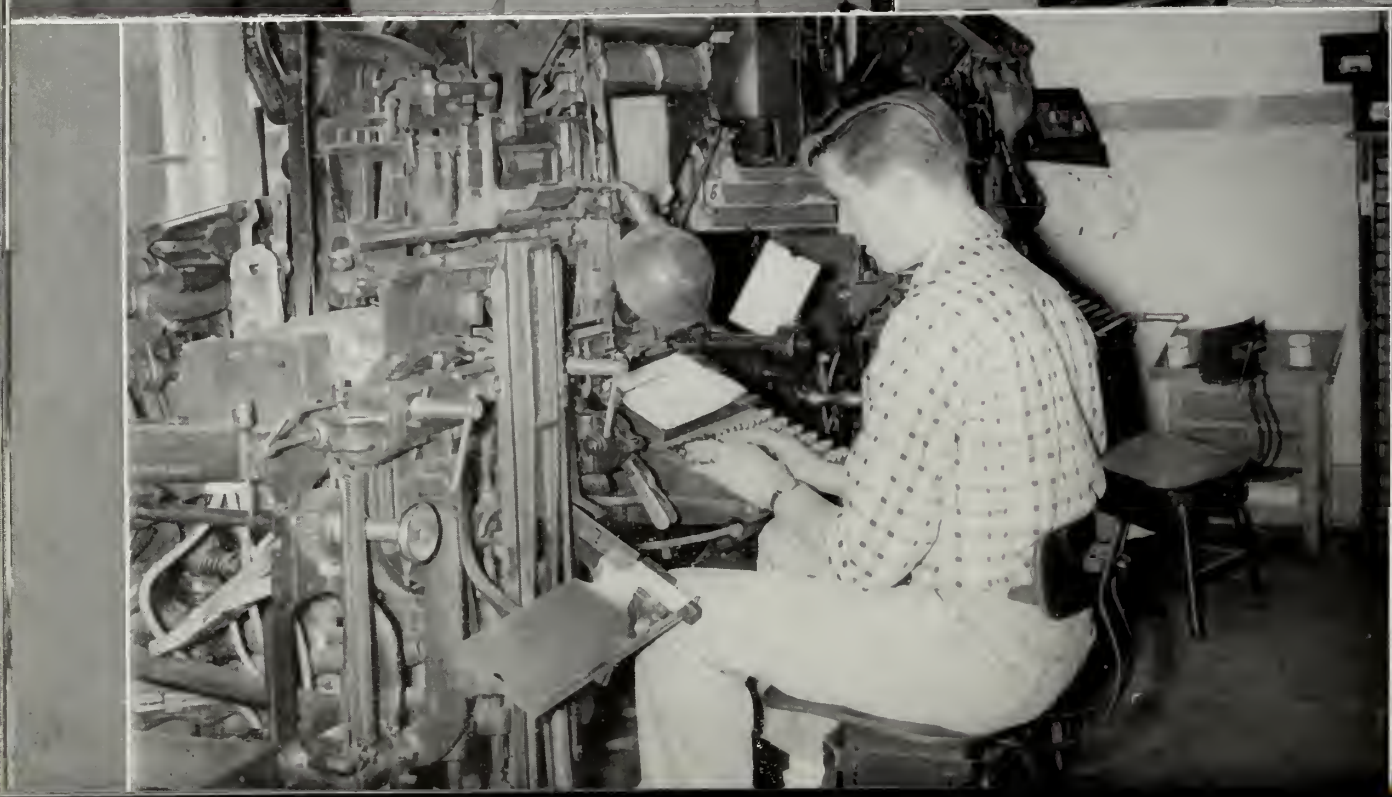
Our Audio-Visual Aids Club has proved itself indispensable through the past years, under the able direction of Mr. White, the faculty adviser, and Edward Fasci, the president. Many educational films were shown in the various classrooms by the club members.

A.V. CLUB

PRINT SHOP

The Print Shop, where boys learn to use linotype machines, presses, et cetera, is a centre of activity all the year; for it is here that our yearbook and tickets for all school activities are printed. With the experience gained in the shop, the boys have little difficulty finding employment in this field.





CABINET MAKING

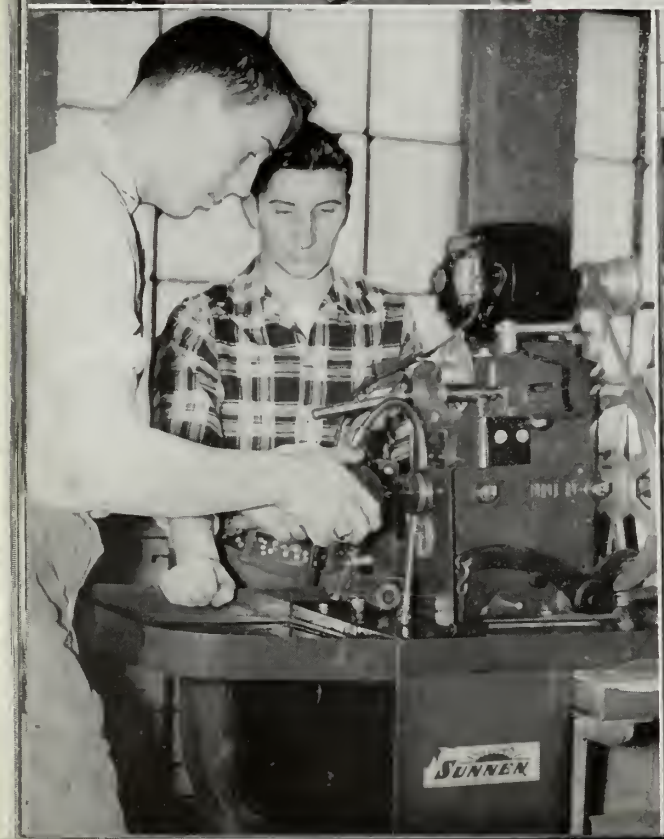
In the Cabinetmaking Shop boys are taught to construct furniture of many different styles. Here they gain invaluable knowledge and experience which will help them to obtain positions in the leading cabinetmaking shops all over the country.

AUTOMOBILE SHOP

The Automobile Shop provides Weymouth with future mechanics. In this shop, the boys learn all the phases of automobile up-keep and repair. Because of the painstaking work done by the boys of this shop, many teachers and townfolk bring their cars here for repairs.

CARPENTRY

Each year, in order to give the boys a more thorough knowledge of their trade, the Carpentry Shop assumes the project of the complete building of a house. This training and experience enable them to get started more easily in their trade.



SHEET METAL

This past year the three major projects of the Sheet Metal Department were the installation of a heating system at the house being built by the pupils of the carpentry course, the construction of a dust-collecting system for the shops at South Junior High, and the fitting of the dog pound with a metal interior. With this training, the boys will be able to step into fine jobs in sheet-metal work.

AGRICULTURE

Another outstanding course at Weymouth High School is offered by the Agricultural Department. The boys in this course, numbering about forty, have three extremely competent instructors: Mr. Hilmer S. Nelson, Mr. Harold Nelson, and Miss Marie Ghiorse. Each week the juniors and seniors go to Walpole, to the Norfolk County Agricultural School, of which the Weymouth Department is a branch, where they gain experience in working with plants and livestock.

CLASS PRAYER

Patricia Barbiere

Dear Father in Heaven, we come before Thee, a group of young people, standing on the threshold of life. So we pray Thee to direct our paths and to show us that prayer is the key to Heaven; but faith unlocks the door.

We have many plans, all varied, but we know that without Thee our planning is futile, and apart from Thee there can be no lasting happiness or success. We know, too, that prayer is not for the purpose of changing things; but of changing us. Therefore we ask that we may be changed into Thy likeness and take Thee with us each day.

As we have come to the close of our school days at Weymouth High and travel the road of remembrance, may we find no room in our hearts for bitterness or misunderstanding.

As we separate, one from the other, may there be no separation from Thee.

Bless us, O Lord, and make us a blessing to others. These things we ask in Thy blessed name.

Amen
